FRENCH CABINET IS UNANIMOUS AGAINST THE GERMAN OFFER

Paris, May 2.—The French Cabinet voted unanimously today to reject the German offer for settlement of reparations made yesterday in a note to all the Allies.

The German proposal to pay thirty billion gold marks was nowhere favorably received. The French believe it is not sufficiently safeguarded against the possibility of default. There are technicalities, they claim, in the German scheme which would permit Germany to avoid her obligations in the eight year period over which the payment would extend.

London, May 2.—German markets dropped thirty-five thousand to the pound sterling on the London Exchange today. This crash followed a statement that the French rejected the German proposal for a revision of the reparations.

IYRONE SUFFERS $150,000 LOSS BY FIRE YESTERDAY

Tyone, May 2.—Fire originating in the rear room of the John H. Winters store in the Stevens estate block on Pennsylvania avenue, near Tenth street, Tyone Wednesday morning shortly before 7 o'clock, spread such headway before being discovered that it quickly spread to the Miller block and the Miller block, both on Pennsylvania avenue, causing a loss in excess of $150,000.

Seven families occupying quarters in the different buildings and all were driven from their homes and most of their belongings were destroyed, other by fire or water.

The Stevens building in which the fire originated suffered worse while the Miller building, better known as the Brunswick hotel, was badly damaged possibly to the extent that it will have to be torn down.

In the Stevens building on the first floor were the law offices of Pascoe and Payne. The damage here was largely due to smoke and water. The Amos room room, conducted by James H. Winters, was gutted, while the Mitchell and Campbell general store, suffered heavy damage to the stock from water, although the fire did not do so much damage to the lower floor in the front.

On the first floor of the Miller building William Patrick conducted a confectionery on the first floor, occupying a large space while the remainder of the first floor was occupied by the Farrell military store. The front of this building was saved from total destruction but the store was badly soaked with water so that the stocks are practically a total loss.

In both these buildings, the upper floors were divided into apartments and nine families were either burned out or had their personal property destroyed by water. However, a portion of the furniture in a number of apartments in the front was taken out before being damaged.

The United Telephone company exchange was located on the third floor of the Stevens building, in the rear, and was totally destroyed by the fire. D. E. C. Schaefer had his dental parlors in the Stevens building, also, and his loss is practically total. The office of J. A. Hoffman real-estate and insurance agent was also destroyed.

The Miller block is occupied by an arm and navy store on the lower floor. While this building did not suffer much damage from fire, two families occupying apartments on the second floor moved out and the stock in the store was water soaked and the loss will be considerable.

Flames had the blaze under control around 9 o'clock and then pulled down the dangerous portions of the brick walls. The Stevens building is owned by the A. A. Stevens estate and the Brunswick hotel by Miller brothers.

Owners of both buildings carried some insurance, while the various store owners and most of the families carried partial insurance on their stock and personal property.

GOVERNOR SIGNS BILL PROHIBITING DAYLIGHT SAVING

Harrisburg, Pa., May 2.—Governor Pinchot today signed the Derrick Anti-daylight Savings Bill, which prohibits the authorization of any other than Eastern Standard Time in any locality or municipality in the State.

RUSSIAN CHURCHMEN CHEER GREETINGS BY M. E. BISHOP

Moscow, May 2.—The All Russian Church-Congress today by unanimous vote deposed the Metropolitan Tikhon, Patriarch of all Russia, who is facing trial for treason to the Soviet government. Tikhon was denounced as a traitor in resolution adopted by the Congress. His Patriarchate was ordered abolished.

Moscow, May 2.—White-haired Bishops, their diamond crosses flashing in the light of thousands of candles mingled with be-whiskered Metropolises in white caps at the Convention of the Priests of Russia today, the occasion is to decide the future of the Russian religion.

Bishop Blake of the Methodist Episcopal church of America, a contrast in his American garb, brought to the gathering the affectionate greeting of American Churchmen in an address which was heartily cheered.

Hardly was the procession under way before Bishop Wodensky, an image of a splendid mystic, with his hooked nose and small pointed beard, swayed the gathering in an impassioned speech. He skillfully did Bishop Wodensky play upon the minds of the gathering that when he finished the Convention voted enthusiastically to send his address to the all Russian Executive Committee and Premier Lenin with their blessings. The decision was unanimous.

WORKMANS GROCERY MEAT MARKET WILL OPEN UP JUNE 2ND

The Workman's Cash Grocery will open their new meat market in the corner room of the Johnston block, now occupied by Johnston's Lillard room, on Saturday, June 2d.

The equipment for the new market is being made by the Banta Refrigerator Works of Clearfield and, it is said, will be the finest of its kind to be found in Central Pennsylvania.

An opening will be made in the walls between the grocery department and the meat market and when the new equipment is installed and the meat market opened for business, the Workman's Third street will be one of the finest and best equipped grocery establishments in this entire region.

SEVEN KILLED WHEN UTAH TRAIN RUNS INTO OPEN SWITCH

Grand Junction, Col., May 2.—Seven persons were reported killed and a number injured when a Denver Rio Grande western passenger train was derailed near Woodside, Utah, during the night.

Reports received here state both locomotives of the train, two baggage cars, the smoker and a chair car were overturned. The accident occurred when the train struck an open switch. A relief train with nurses and physicians was sent to the scene where the report was received here.

Piggly-Wiggly Head Has His Back To The Wall And Is Fighting

Memphis, Tenn., May 2.—Clarence Saunders, Piggly-Wiggly magnate, was just a plain grocery clerk again today among his own people who rallied to his aid in the greatest financial crisis of his career.

Five hundred men and women hero worshippers of the millionaire grocer, who recently fought Wall Street to a standstill, and he admits now the "Street" had him backed to the wall, rallied to his aid and pledged their moral and financial support to save him from financial disaster.

$50,000 GARAGE FIRE AT LOCK HAVEN

Lock Haven, May 2.—Fire which broke out in the rear garage and salesroom of the Fox Motor Company, East Main street, Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock, entailed a loss of $50,000, including the destruction of 28 automobiles, damage to the building of the D. Crowley estate, the E. C. Decker building, and gave the firemen of Lock Haven one of the hardest battles they have had in many years. The situation was most menacing for an hour, during which time it was feared the entire block to Jay street, comprising the Crowley and Decker buildings and the Garden theatre, would be destroyed.

MRS. FLORENCE BUTLER CONNER

Mrs. Florence Butler Conner passed away at the Indiana hospital April 28, 1923, aged 20 years, 3 months and 3 days. Mrs. Conner was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Butler, formerly of Clearfield, but residing in Indiana for several years. She is survived by her husband, E. G. Conner, two little daughters, Ethel and Thelma Pearl, her mother and father, two brothers Arthur and Earl, and one sister, Annie, all of Indiana.

The remains were brought to Clearfield and buried at Mt. Joy, where her baby sister, Edith, lies at rest.

LUMBER CITY FOLK START MOVEMENT FOR BETTER ROADS

Lumber City people have been bitten by the "good roads" bug and have launched a movement looking to the development of an organization whose purpose will be to secure some improvement on Route No. 62, extending from Curwensville through to Mahaffey. This is a highly important route and furnishes connection with both Indiana and Cambria county seats.

At a meeting held on April 27th preliminary plans were laid, a "war chest" fund created and another meeting called for Tuesday, May 8th at which time it is expected definite plans will be made to bring the necessary for improving this road to the attention of the State Highway Department. Senator Joseph O. Clark of Glen Campbell, is expected to be present at this meeting and all those living along or that would be benefited by having this road improved are requested to attend.

The meeting will be held in I. O. O. F. hall at Lumber City and the local committee ask you to come and bring an auto load of friends of the road along.

NEW YORK CALLS ON RADIO TO STAMP OUT KIDNAPING REVIVAL

Schenectady, N. Y., May 3.—There is no joy, no jazzy melody, in the sound waves that are broadcast by radio station WGY.

Sadness amplified makes the voice of the wireless mournful. Have you heard it?

It is the voice of a father and a mother, mingled in a common sorrow, calling for their lost son. The little boy is six-year-old Verner Alexanderson kidnapped at play. "Kidnapping a little child is the roughest crime—a crime against childhood and parenthood," says Ernest S. W. Alexanderson, consulting engineer of the General Electric Company and chief engineer of the Radio Corporation of America.

The father built station WGY and is counting on its powerful voice to find young Verner and the man who lured him away with promises of fun and a box to keep them in. Mothers and fathers in this upstate region are alarmed at what appears to be a revival of the crime of kidnaping—two within two months, the Schenectady case and the Minkins case in Albany early in March.

Here is a record of kidnaped children in these twin cities:

- 1877—John Conway, 4; found alive; abductors captured.
- 1878—Billy Clark, 5; body found; abductors escaped.
- 1919—Alexis Schaeffer, 12; never found.
- 1923—Leopold Minkin, 3; found at Newburgh, N. Y., maid arrested.
- 1923—Verner Alexanderson, 6; kidnapped April 30.

Ransom is believed to have been the incentive for Verner's kidnapping though his father protests that he is not wealthy.

"A suppressed hunger of mother love was given as the reason why a nursemaid went away with the Minkins baby," says Chief of Police Frank Lash, of Albany. "There have been many cases in police records like that."

half offered by the city of Schenectady, awaits the person who furnishes information leading to the return of little Verner. Alexanderson, the radio is carrying the message everywhere.

New York, N. Y., May 3.—Police today learned that a boy answering the description of Verner Alexanderson, aged six, kidnapped son of E. W. Alexanderson, had been seen at the

This tip was given by Alexander Marshall of Coroga, N. Y., who told police his mother and sister saw a child which was being led by a man and a woman. The child was weeping. The man answered the description of the man who lured the boy away.

Police of Schenectady, where the boy was stolen, were notified.

PRESIDENT GIVES HIS APPROVAL TO V. F. W. MAY 30. POPPY SALE

Washington, D. C., May 2.—President Harding has endorsed the Veterans of Foreign Wars campaign to have every man, woman and child in America wear a Flanders poppy on Memorial Day. He has favored the adoption of the poppy as a memorial flower since the overseas veterans' organization sponsored it three years ago, and has endorsed each year's campaign. His letter to Col. Tillinghast L. Huston, commander-in-chief of the V. F. W., reads as follows:

My dear Colonel Huston: I am glad to express my accord with the plan which the Veterans of Foreign Wars have put forth to have the people generally wear a poppy on Memorial Day, as a testimonial of continuing interest and sympathy in the great cause of which that flower has become in a way emblematic. I hope the proposal will be generally accepted this year, for it is certainly an appealing testimony of the nation's continuing sense of its concern for the men who served it during the world war.

Most sincerely yours,
WARREN G. HARDING.

FORMER RESIDENT DIES

John T. Seeley, a resident of this section for many years, died at his home in Camas, Washington, about 25 miles from Portland, Oregon, on Sunday, April 15, 1923, aged 61 years.

The deceased, who was a carpenter by trade, left Clearfield for the Pacific coast about twenty years ago. He is survived by four sons—Harry and George, of Camas; Clarence, of New York City, and William, of Erie, Pa.

"Say boys, if you want to get into the marble shooting contest you had better do it today as this is the last day for registering. There are 63 boys who have signed up so far and three of this number are going to win those prizes that are in Kurt's store window."

If you have not already signed up you had better get down to the Y. M. C. A. and do so before it is too late. The rules that will be in force for the contest will be explained before the contest starts on Saturday morning. Be sure to be back of the High School promptly at 9:00 o'clock Saturday morning as the contest will start at that time.

GIANT PLANE T-2 IS PAST NEW MEXICO IN BIG NON-STOP FLIGHT

Tucumcari, N. M., May 3.—The giant monoplane, T-2, is on the last leg of its transcontinental non-stop flight.

Shortly after dawn the ship was seen above Tucumcari, flying at a height of a thousand feet, the motor roaring faintly.

Kansas City, Mo., May 3.—The Army airplane, T-2, was believed safely across Kansas on its transcontinental non-stop flight.

LAST DAY FOR ENTRY IN CAPABLE SWIMMER IS HERE TO SHOW HOW TO SAVE DROWNERS

Captain William G. Krieb of the American Red Cross life saving corps arrived in Clearfield on Wednesday and will be here Wednesday and Thursday for the purpose of organizing a life saving corps in Clearfield.

While here Capt. Krieb gave the life saving test to Mr. Pierce and Mr. Oberdick who, have both qualified as examiners and will be glad to give any one the test who desires to take it.

The purpose of the life saving corps is to thoroughly instruct the swimmers so that in case of an emergency they will know how to handle a patient to the best advantage. Since the organization of the corps there, have been a great many lives saved that would have been lost if the rescuer had not known how to administer artificial respiration and properly care for the patient.

$60,000 Fire Follows In Wake Of Bandit's Visit To Butcher Shop

Pittsburgh, May 3.—A few minutes after Andrew Shogan left his butcher shop in Rankin, the victim of robbers who bound, gagged and locked him in a refrigerator early today the building burst into flames.

Before the fire was extinguished six business houses and two residences were destroyed, and six families were made homeless. The total loss was estimated at $60,000.

COSTS RESERVED OTHER COURT

The case of Earl Galtley and Nick Aloi, which was brought to court yesterday morning in connection with the plaintiff in the case. Suit was brought by the plaintiff against the defendants to recover damages on Third street.

The last case to be tried today was that of Earl Galtley and Nick Aloi, who brought suit against Andrew Morrie, a Schenectady personal injuries resulted in which all the evidence showed largely the plaintiff's fault.

The parties are Galtley and Aloi and live in the upper part of the city. Several months ago Andrew Morrie himself by sending his children near his property. Galtley and Aloi like the idea of a suit and went to his neighbor's back yard and turned Andrew Morrie then he turned to "keep his tongue off the Morrie's business."

Being on his "tongue" he was surrounded by his own people and got quite angry and "made fight" with Morrie. Morrie told his neighbors that he was a man of peace and that he would not insist that he was a peace-loving man. He was up to a fight and he squared himself for the fight. He again crouched his back to the jaw and as Andrew Morrie moved to strike him and proceeded to give him a "battering" and continued at that until his pants were pulled down to his ankles.

Amesbury straightaway caught and Square L. V. Loe and had a second round for Scotty, but when the judge heard the story of the fight he promptly discharged Morrie and made the prosecutor pay the costs.

That made Amesbury madder than ever and he went to DuBois where he employed Potts & Potts to bring a Civil action for damages against the plaintiff. Morrie was served with the papers and was in court with his attorney James A. Gleason when the case was called for trial before Judge Bell yesterday. A story in effect such as we have described was told at the trial and after due and proper deliberation the jury, upon which sat three women, returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff in the princely sum of two whole dollars. The jury didn't even award this princely sum to the prosecutor for damages to his beauty or his person, but to reimburse him for money expended to the coal company doctor for repairs to his arm.

73 Women Will Serve On Indiana County Juries At This Court

Indiana, Pa., May 2.—Seventy-three good women and true, according to the accepted saying, have, for the first time, been summoned as jurors for a session of court in Indiana county. They will serve on grand, petit and traverse juries with 131 men and while they will form the minority, thirty-five per cent of the total, to be exact they will make themselves heard in the councils. Of course they will. Women were given the franchise some time ago, through constitutional amendment, now they are given another requisite of responsibility with the same conscientiousness that they devote to their other domestic and public affairs.

Women Fade Because They Eat Too Much

Male Your Food And You Will Remain Beautiful, Says Johns Hopkins Professor

Philadelphia, May 1. (United Press)—"To stay young and fresh, eat your food, inhale it," was, according to Dr. Paul Hantz, of Johns Hopkins University, the secret of perpetual youthfulness. The professor's remarks were made to members of the Philadelphia Society.

By it is that our modern gods start to break when they pass their teens?" he asked. "At 25 they are young and old. Their faces are lined and lined. Their freshness and youth has departed."

"By overeating," he answered. "A study of mythology shows that the gods and goddesses never ate and drank, in consequence, perpetually youthful. When a god or goddess wanted a meal he hovered over a living sacrifice and inhaled the essence of a roast bullock. That satisfied him. He sailed away in the upper air well nourished."

"Now our modern goddesses are fading before our eyes because they cannot tame their desire for food. They should content themselves with the aroma or incense of delicately cooked food."

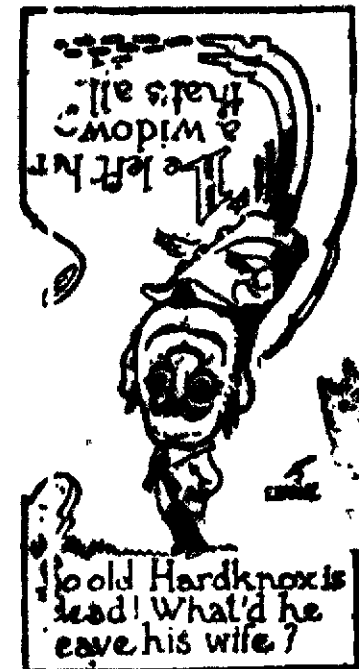

"If they want a cigarette they should sit near some one who is smoking, never smoke themselves."

"Their fragility and youthfulness would increase in proportion as they limited their food to liquid diet, with occasional inhalations of solid food."

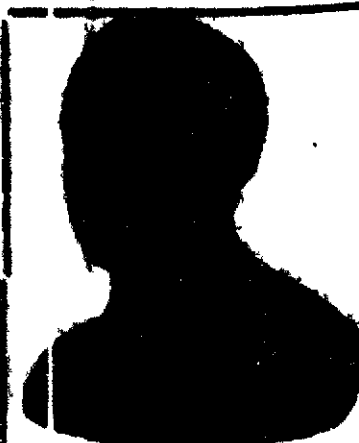

"If women persist in following the mortal custom of consuming large quantities of gross food, she will continue to fade and droop before our eyes. She will also coarsen herself."

"To be young and beautiful she must get back to the condition of her ancestors who dined off the wing of a chicken and a cup of tea."

McCONNELL ESCAPES PUNISHMENT; JURY DISCHARGED AGAIN

Philadelphia, May 2.—William C. McConnell, former federal prohibition director for Pennsylvania and 28 others, charged with conspiracy to issue fraudulent permits for the withdrawal of whisky, were freed late today by order of Judge J. Whitaker Thomas in United States district court, because the government was unable to prove a general conspiracy. The case had been on trial more than a week.

Judge Thompson halted the trial long enough to inform government counsel that the case could go no further until evidence was submitted to show that each of the defendants knew of the conspiracy on the part of the others.

The jury was ordered withdrawn for an hour, while Assistant United States Attorney Paul MacElree argued the matter.

Defendant Alleged Violation.
Mr. MacElree reviewed the evidence already submitted to show there was a conspiracy. He told how liquor had been withdrawn on alleged federal permits in the name of certain companies whose officers testified that they had never made application for the whisky withdrawn. He also told how the alleged illegality withdrawn liquor had been diverted to persons other than those named in the permits. The evidence already submitted, Mr. MacElree contended, was sufficient for the jury to decide that there was a conspiracy.

"We will yet prove," he said, "that McConnell and his assistants received actual notice of many of the violations which were violent."

"The government charges," said Mr. MacElree, "that Albert F. Slater, McConnell's secretary, Hiram W. Benner, in charge of the permit division under McConnell, and McConnell caused the removal of the papers that were lost in the prohibition office.

"In the Philadelphia office, Slater had the keys. In the Pittsburgh office, a young woman was ordered to stop making the daily records and Samuel B. Wolfe, in charge of the Pittsburgh office under McConnell, with McConnell's knowledge ordered some of the files brought to him and never returned them."

"We cannot produce any witnesses to say that the defendants sat around the table and 'doped out' this plot. The jury must deduce from their conduct that they had a unity of purpose to defraud the government."

Says Indictment Ambiguous.
Judge Thompson said:
"The government has shown four separate conspiracies and it is presuming to show the connection of various defendants with various sub-conspiracies. How does this establish a general conspiracy on the part of all the defendants? This has been thrashed out before when the demurrers on the indictments were heard. It is what I call an unusually ambiguous sort of indictment, attempting to make one conspiracy out of four."

The court then asked Mr. MacElree to give his view on this phase of the case.

After a lengthy argument by Mr. MacElree, Judge Thompson consented to let the case go on. In reply to contention of defense counsel that no general conspiracy existed, Mr. MacElree argued it was not necessary to show a formal agreement, or that all the defendants knew what the others did, but only that they acted together to produce the alleged illegal result.

The trial today was marked by the efforts of the government to learn the circumstances veiling the disappearance of a mass of documentary evidence.

Fifty liquor permits, which the government contends were forged, disappeared from locked government files, some time prior to December, 1921, it was testified late yesterday in the United States district court.

CONCERNING THAT PUZZLE KNOWN AS A BOY

This is Boys' Week, and everybody is talking about them. The rest of the year their mothers do the thinking. One of the gits of one amateur is that boys are easier to read than to live with.

Among comic need must be listed an old-fashioned attic, a large and well-proportioned barn, ten square miles of country and a continuous movie for every male over two and under ten. With these buffers between him and humanity—especially the feminine half of it—he would be happy. No, we don't know how it can be arranged; and mean-while the woman struggles along doing the best she can for her mother, grandmother, aunt, teacher to a being considerably less intelligible to her than an Australian Bushlady.

What are you to think of the seven-year-old who gaily informs you that he has plucked the Golden Rooster—that he knows where there's a skeleton of a dead cat?

What are you going to do to the twelve-year-old who looks you blandly in the eye and answers "Ov-right" when you tell him to come straight home from school and mow the lawn—then appears at ten minutes past dinner time insisting that you never uttered and he never assented to the ultimatum?

What are you to say to the sixteen-year-old who takes longer than his sister to dress for a party, who waxes a hair out every week and who vegetable cooking fat to give it a crispy, greased-feline pompadour who will go without an overcoat all winter rather than wear last winter's coat with sleeves an inch too short?

Vanity, thy name is boy! He begins a fight to ask his grandmother if he is "pretty" (yes, we mean a real boy, not a Nancy or a Lizzie). At eighteen he doesn't ask—he knows! And he is more fussy than any daughter of Eve about the clothes he wears. A prince home from college with his pompadour "wilt in the middle" and he is hurt because the improvement to his style of beauty doesn't instantly hit the family in the eye. (Blame it on the fact that he towers above most of its members; they might be expected for not nothing the change in the decoration of the top story.)

The favor of princes is not more tickle than the friendship of boys. David and Jonathan do their home work together, secret each other to the movies, have around each other's shoulder until it is torn forth by less intimated members of the family take joint hunting trips. (The accent is on the "hunt"; what they find for the bag is one skinny blackbird and a moron squirrel.) For quite three months D. grapples J. to his soul with hoops of steel. Then—all is over between them.

"Have you boys had a fight?" ask the family student of human relations.

"None" (reluctant).

"Then, what is the matter?"

"Nothing" (even more placidly).

And one realizes that "the sturdy boyish friendship" is just another lost illusion about boys.

A woman never knows where boys—like war—will break out next.

One comes home from a day's shopping to find the son of the house attaching his wireless aerials to the house's ridgepole.

"Would you have allowed him to climb up there?" one demands of his father, with the usual passion to rebuke the stable door.

"Not if he had asked me" replies father adlinely; "that's probably why he didn't ask."

What can women do with boys? We can't do much. Often nerving and very ne and making a-churn-of-the-son stuff is worse than neglect. Some devoted women should hear the inflection of contempt with which other boys dismiss their darling as "tied to mothers' apron strings."

Digging up a boy's soul to see how it grows is as useless and dangerous as digging up sweet-pea seeds for the same purpose.

Not too much spending money, plenty to eat ("enough" is not "plenty" for a boy), work in school and some work out of it, all the outdoor life possible—these are about the only safe general prescription for treating boyhood. The disease has to run its course for twenty or thirty years. What the feminine nurse would do if they weren't in love with their vain forgetful little, indolent irrepressible barbaric, indecipherable young patients we can't imagine!

Margaret Moores Marshall

Origin of Collie's Name.

The collie's name appears to be shrouded in mystery; but there seems to be a fairly reasonable foundation for supposing that it is from "coll" or "collar," on account of the broad white mark round the neck which is seen in the majority of these dogs.

Well-Drained and Productive Orchard.

also removes much potash and phosphorus soluble in this surplus water. A porous, well-drained soil, we find, becomes much like a great carbon or charcoal filter, and any elements removed by cropping are readily reabsorbed from the water which may bring any new supply along. Nature unlocks the elements for the roots of our orchard trees, but permits very small amounts, if any, to escape through any artificial drain we may construct. This plant food absorbed from surface fertilizers and manures is quickly combined and locked into the subsoil combinations before it has any chance to escape. By draining our orchard soil we deepen the rootbed and give our trees a bigger, better feeding ground.

BEST LOCATION FOR ORCHARD

Site Should Have No Rock Ledges or Hardpan Over Surface and Be Well Drained.

The orchard must be on a good site with no rock ledges or hardpan over the surface, well drained and without unusual danger from frosts; the trees must have good vitality, without decayed trunks, cankers that girdle the limbs, or weakness that would make good growth impossible; and, finally, the varieties must be good unless it is practicable to top-graft the trees.

LIME-SULPHUR KILLS SCALE

Too Many Growers Are Careless in Application and Insect Gets Considerable Start.

Concentrated lime-sulphur, one part to eight parts of water, has been recommended for the control of scale, but too many growers are careless in the application and the scale gets a start. Use either lime-sulphur or a good miscible oil. Scalecide is a miscible oil that is very effective in control of scale insects.

Surest Independence.

There is no independence that can be sure but a dependence upon one's self.

Horticultural NEWS

TILE DRAINAGE OF ORCHARD

Just as Beneficial and Productive of Results as in Field of Corn or Potatoes.

The drainage is just as beneficial and productive of results in the average farm orchard as in the field of corn or potatoes. The orchard soil, we find, needs venting and ventilating just as any other soil, and tilling renders the rootbed all the more retentive of needed moisture, so necessary to the fruit in the growing season. Says a writer in Successful Farming: "Wet soils are cold soils and often sour, neither of which produces the best of apples, peaches or pears. Cultivating the wet soil about the roots of the trees is just as damaging as plowing the wet soil about the roots of corn or potatoes for the time being and certain weeds are difficult of eradication in the orchards where it is too wet to work the ground."

None of the orchards set in the past have long remained in good, thrifty growing order when planted on poorly drained soil. So many we have known to select a high clay spot on the farm close to the residence for their orchard and then get such poor results many times because the soil itself was wet and poorly drained. It seems that surface drainage might be sufficient in one way since no water will stand on the surface about the trees, but it is that wet, clammy old clay about the roots that absorbs and holds the water which does the damage. The ideal orchard soil is that in which the water is either moving up or down every day in the year. In wet weather the rain or melting snow water seeps readily down to under ground drains. In dry weather capillary action has become well established and the soil water is coming up to feed the trees from vast storage basins underground. In the wet, clammy, undrained rootbed the water neither moves up or down except in very limited quantities. For some reason the wet undrained soil becomes practically closed to successful capillary action. It absorbs just so much water in times of flood and will not admit another drop.

There is a mistaken notion abroad that the drainage removes much plant food from the soil. We find the well-drained soil if anything becomes more fertile and productive with each passing season. The point disputed seems to be that the drainage in removing surplus water from the land

The growing mash should be kept before young pullets at all times up all they are ready for the laying house. Three or four pounds of feed are required for the production of one pound of gain, live weight.

The young cockerels should be separated from the pullets when they weigh from 1½ to 2 pounds, and those not needed for breeding stock should be fattened and marketed. Early hatched cockerels, marketed early in the season, are usually a better paying proposition than when they are kept until 4 or 5 pounds and sold on a lower market. The young pullet should be given every opportunity to develop as she needs a vigorous body of strong constitution and vitality for heavy egg production. She will not have it if she is stunted in any manner.—O. C. Ufford, Poultry Department, Colorado Agricultural College.

KEEP ALL POULTRY HEALTHY

Wise Poultryman Keeps House Clean and Well Ventilated—Disinfectant.

Every poultry raiser knows that fowls thrive best in clean, well ventilated places. By keeping the houses, coops, runs and runways sprayed with a concentrated lysol solution you will do a great deal toward promoting good health and productivity among your poultry.

Many of the most successful poultry raisers use this lysol solution around their poultry houses at least every other week. The solution is made by dissolving a small can of lysol in five gallons of water. A sprinkling can hand spray, or an old wash broom may be used to apply the solution.

DO-N'T FEED FOWLS HEAVILY

Poultry Being Prepared for Shipment Should Not Have Large Amount of Grain.

Don't feed heavily before shipping and expect to get paid for the weight of your feed. Heavy feeding of birds that are accustomed to range causes digestive troubles in shipment, and consequently large shrinkage in weight, to say nothing of off-condition.

POULTRY NOTES

A lazy hen is not a well one.

Turkeys are profitable, but need a lot of care to get them started.

Moving layers from coop to coop frequently checks egg production.

Turkeys can eat almost any kind of feed after they are three months old.

It is common knowledge that hens and pullets should be out of doors as much as possible during the winter.

Ordinarily, a gander may be mated with from one to four geese, although pair or trio matings generally give the best results. Wild geese seldom mate with more than one goose.

Many breeders find it pays to fatten broilers for a week or ten days on a sloppy mash of sour milk and cornmeal.

Eggs kept for hatching purposes that are not set immediately should be turned at least once a day and they should be handled gently.

Raising early broilers simply means starting the chicks as usual and following with scratch grain and a growing mash until nearly ready for market.

Matches Should Be Cheap.

One pound of phosphorus is sufficient to head 1,000,000 matches.

SCHOOLS USE OUR MILK ON UNDERWEIGHT SCHOLARS

There is a real reason why the local board of education selected our milk for use in the work of bringing the scholars that are underweight up to the proper weight.

There is everything in it that should be in a perfect milk, plus the added safety of the pasteurization process. The milk is brought here from farms where the cows are fed for the production of high grade milk, and then we put this same milk through the pasteurization process.

Every pupil in the schools who has been using our milk has shown an increase in weight since starting to drink his or her pint of milk a day.

Orchard Information

IN HOME STRAWBERRY PATCH

Often Overlooked Because of Previous Failure or Selection of Wrong Soil.

It is very difficult to find anyone who does not like nice fresh strawberries and even in fairly large quantities. At the same time how many have all they want? An average sized family of five can comfortably consume five quarts daily. Figure on the home patch furnishing them for 20 days which as a rule would cost 35 cents or more per quart. That would mean $35 for strawberries in one season to say nothing of the surplus that could be sold or preserved in some form. Very few families buy $35 worth of berries in one season, so it naturally appears that the only solution is to have a home patch.

There are several reasons why we do not have more home patches, chiefly among which are:

1. Some previous failure due to improper selection of soil, wrong variety or poor culture.

2. Simply neglected putting out a patch.

Sometimes people think that a rich soil is necessary and proceed to manure the soil very heavily. This is a mistake as frequently an excessive amount of manure, in decomposing, may cause the plants to rot. Again, rich soil stimulates an excessive plant growth at the expense of fruit production and also where plants have made a heavy tender growth of plant matter in the spring they are more apt to suffer from drought when dry weather sets in.

Select a good clay loam soil, capable of retaining moisture, and of only medium fertility. It is surprising to see some of the successful strawberry patches in the Ozarks, where from a superficial observation it would seem that the plants are growing in a mass of small rocks.

Select a perfect variety, that is, one which does not require another variety to furnish the pollen, generally termed a variety to fertilize the imperfect variety. The Klondike and Aroma are good standard varieties and each one is a perfect variety.

Set your home strawberry patch in late February or March. Mark off your rows at least three feet apart and set plants two feet apart in the row. Keep the roots moist. Make the opening plenty large and deep enough so the roots may be spread out and not doubled up. Set the plants to the ground, but be sure not to cover up the terminal bud.

Keep the plants cultivated from the time the plants are set out until the first rains begin. The idea is to make a good growth. In case the plants try to bear the first spring, stop it, pinch the stems off, they are set, pinch the stems off and throw that nourishment into plant production.

As the runners start, train them in the direction of the row and in this way a solid mat in the direction of the row will be formed by the end of the growing season. This system of training will establish what is known as the matted row system which is best adapted to Oklahoma conditions.

Secure two hundred plants of one of the above named varieties, set them out in March in a clay loam soil, cultivate well and have plenty of strawberries for the berry season of 1924.

—J. C. Moore, Extension Horticulturist, Oklahoma A. & M. College.

IMPORTANCE OF SPRAYS

Demonstrations by Extension Workers Have Resulted in Many Orchards Being Treated.

Demonstrations by extension workers in the methods and importance of spraying fruit trees have resulted in many orchards being sprayed on over 37,000 farms in 1922, according to reports to the United States Department of Agriculture.

NATIONAL FORESTRY POLICY

Nothing Can Be Done Until More Is Known About Growing Timber in Many Sections.

A sound national policy of forestry cannot be perfected until far more is known about how to grow timber under widely varying conditions, what are the requirements can best be met, says the forest service, United States Department of Agriculture.

200,000 Young Americans In Military Training in 1923

United States Plans Framework to Call Army of 3,000,000 Into Service in Emergency and Keep Banks Filled.

By A. L. BRADFORD

(United Press Staff Correspondent) Washington, May 3. (United Press)—"In time of peace, prepare for war."

With this spirit more than 200,000 young Americans will enter military training camps throughout the Nation in 1923, beginning in June, to train themselves for the moment when their Government may again have to call them to arms in a great military emergency.

The series of training camps this year is the third of its kind since the summer of 1921.

The military training in these camps this summer will be an other step in whipping American manpower into an individual fitness and efficiency or organization where all sons of trained soldiers can be swiftly, quietly and efficiently be mobilized into a great democracy war machine. If it is again necessary to defend with force the sovereignty of the United States.

The immediate goal of the War Department in this new post-war military policy of the United States will be the ability to mobilize an army of 3,000,000 men. Also, through this policy, it is the aim of the War Department to be able to fill up depleted ranks of this great army during a big war, from the already trained millions of American manpower.

The camps are also designed to remedy the condition of 50 per cent. of American youth, affected by physical defects of one sort or another, and to inculcate in young Americans manhood the duties and responsibilities of this country's citizenship.

The training period this summer will extend from the first of June until the first of October. In the various classes of camps—Citizens' Military Training, National Guard, Organized Reserves and Reserve Officers' Training Corps Camps—it is estimated that 27,000 men will be trained. Thirty thousand officers and men of the regular Army in addition will assist in this training.

Citizens Training. The Citizens' military training camps will be held from June 25 to September 1, most of the camps being planned for August, and each camp to be of a month's duration. This time the camps are expected to be trained in these camps.

The National Guard will train during June, July, August and September, each unit being in camp for two weeks. The Department estimates that the total National Guard attendance will reach 170,000.

Caught On to Sailors' Trick.

If a man's hat blew overboard while leaving port many British skippers would turn back and delay sailing until the next day. It was an omen that one of the crew would be lost over the side during the trip. This sign, however, became discredited, as wily deckhands, desirous of another day ashore with their wives and families, contracted the habit of going aloft and assisting the wind to forestall disaster.

Derivation of "King."

Kings in the earliest days were merely the "fathers of families," and the word is derived from the same source as "kin."

Fact of a Good Husband.

Our position is simply this: That no man is a good husband who doesn't notice when his bones show that the strongman's muscles have been noted to the flimsy structure—Dagfinn Fjell.

A True Prose.

Felling trees which he helped plant eighty years ago is the unique experience of a man in Beronsburg who is within three years of reaching the century mark.

Long Wars of the Past.

A review of history shows that all the most momentous clashes of arms have resulted in long wars. In the middle ages England waged an interminable conflict with France known as the Hundred Years war, while the corresponding conflict between England and Scotland may be said to have been a five-century one.

The Officers of the Ordnance of the services will camp during July and August this training period also being for two weeks. The Reserve Officers are expected to total 9,000.

Liberty Bonds. Liberty Bonds will be sold in the training camps. June 11 to 15, 25, with the training period being six weeks and total attendance estimated also to total 130,000.

The training camps represent the three components of the American Army under the new military policy of the United States. This policy is explained as follows by Major General William Lester, assistant Chief of Staff:

Firstly, the first time in our history as a Nation we have legislation authorizing the establishment of a definite framework in which can be built systematically and with reason, the military, the citizen army required in times of great national emergency.

Secondly, the Regular Army provides the permanent establishment necessary to furnish the overhead and the other necessary for the development of the great citizen army. This force is strictly limited in numbers in time of peace, but plans are provided for expansion in time of war.

The National Guard forms by far the largest part of our force in being in time of peace, and our plans call for about one-third of our war-time army. Its units have been allotted as to reach every community proportionate to population, so that every part of the country has its defense force.

The Organized Reserve is a skeleton organization, existing in peace time only in embryo, but with the framework as established, that, in the outbreak of war, the needed man can be quickly absorbed into this framework. The reserves are to furnish more than half of the National Army's purpose to raise for a great emergency. Embracing the National Guard and the Organized Reserve, it is necessary to make a well balanced Army, the units are proportioned so as to give each community throughout the country its share of the force to be raised.

The force that then gives you the general plan on which we purpose to raise, in time of emergency, a great national force. The units now being definitely established will provide a force of about 3,000,000 men; but, with the machinery established we could then go on to keep the ranks of these units filled up during a war, and also to raise additional units, if necessary.

Tests Straw.

Experiments have recently been carried out in two Scottish mills for the purpose of determining the yield of straw and the utility of straw as a source of fuel. Both whey and oat straw were tested and fairly satisfactory results were obtained. A field of pulp was made from oat straw equal to 25 per cent of the weight of bone dry straw. This is said to be a surplus production of 420,000 tons of straw in Scotland alone.

RIEBONS FURNISH INSPIRATION FOR GIRDLES AND KIRCHIEFS

"MAKE it of ribbon" is apparently the prevalent sentiment throughout the realm of fashion. The pictures herewith tell of the magic which lurks in a length of ribbon.

Just now the DeWitts headband is the subject supreme. It has a play in the ribbon kerchief drapes, such as is pictured in the small circle. The way to make this interesting novelty is to take four pieces of wide ribbon, interweave at the corners and join by double hemstitching or fagoting. This pretty "ribbonette," as it has been aptly called, can be worn as a square, pulled around so that one point comes down in the front with each shoulder and the back adorned with the other points. A pleasing variation is to knot one point in kerchief effect.

Fancy girdles—what a sensation they are creating among dress accessories, and how gracefully ribbon lends itself to the general scheme! The picture tells, in two views, how to fashion the cleverest sort of a hip-scarf or girdle out of about one and three-quarters yards of wide ribbon. Two pieces are interlaced to make a corner, the one three-fourths yard in length, the other one yard. The process is shown in the section held to view by the young woman, who afterwards knots it about the hips, point over right hip, as the spreading figure displays.

Among other ribbon novelties is a very effective cap for the boudoir. A yard and a half of ribbon 6 or 7 inches wide is required. Fold it to find the center, shirr here in five vertical rows, so as to draw down to conform to the head. To one side measure 12 inches, at which point cut a slit or button hole almost across the ribbon. Overcast this with floss, so it will not unravel. In adjusting, pull the other end of the ribbon through the slit at the back of the head. Bring both ends forward and treat the front in a butterfly bow.

It's a positive fact that I feel better than I have felt in ten years since I took Dr. Thacker's Liver & Blood Syrup.

"I had been sick for the past years and spent a small fortune on medicines that never did me good. Then the other day one of my boarders brought me a sample of Dr. Thacker's Liver & Blood Syrup and got me to try it. It did me so much that I had to have taken four bottles in all. I am hungry all the time and feel like I want to eat everything I see. I don't feel dizzy or headache any more. I sleep the whole night through. I hadn't been able to sleep for years."

"Constipation used to clog me for a week at a time and I was bloated up with gas and suffer agony. My nerves were in such a state that I couldn't hear the noise of a shutter. All these troubles are now and I am feeling like a new son."

Vacation voyages ranging from two days to two weeks in duration are afforded by the various steamship lines that ply on the Great Lakes. These inland seas of America are a truly international summer resort, both American and Canadian boats being engaged in tourist transportation.

Many of the Americans, as well as Canadians, who make the trans-Canada tour in warm weather, vary the long journey by embarking on lake steamers at Port McNicoll, Ontario, so as to travel by water to Port William, or vice versa on the return trip.

By this arrangement some forty hours are spent on the palatial Kewatin or Assiniboia. Broad decks, verandah cafes, luxuriant public rooms, roomy cabins—some with shower baths—and spacious dining saloons, make the lake traveler think he or she is on an ocean liner, with the difference that the water is calmer.

The passage from Lake Huron into Lake Superior is made through a marvel of engineering, the Soo Canal, another demonstration of international amity.

Although Lake Superior was linked to the eastern lakes by St. Mary's River, it was cut off from traffic by long, dangerous rapids. By building two canals, one on the Canadian and the other on the American side, a gateway was made through which passes a greater annual tonnage than passes through either Panama or Suez canals.

The Canadian canal took over seven years to build and is 1,472 feet long. It embraces one 900-foot lock that is 25 feet wide and raises the water 25 feet. Through these locks pass huge volumes of wheat grown on both American and Canadian prairies, transported mostly by wheelbarrows. These big boats are sort of moving storehouses and the fleet is capable of moving 8,000,000 bushels of wheat at one time.

As a usual thing Babe Ruth is "the whole show" at the Yankee Stadium, but President Harding was somewhat of an attraction himself when he went to see the Yanks defeat the Senators, 4 to 0. Babe very graciously welcomed the president to his province and slammed out a homer for the edification of his distinguished guest.

The Cross-Section Tells the Story

FIND out exactly what your money buys when you invest in Lancaster Tires. Come in and see the Lancaster Cut-Away Cross Section.

One-half of the section is intact—the other half carefully cut away to show you clearly what goes into these better tires—and why you get more miles out of them.

The tough, wear-fighting tread with extra broad, extra flat surface—

—the beveled buttresses that greatly reinforce the tread blocks—

—the liberal plies of heavily-gummed long-staple cotton cords that form the sturdy carcass—bead, breaker-strip, tough side-walls—all are "open for inspection."

Come in. See the cross-section. Let us explain the big features originated by Lancaster. When you see how these better tires are built—when you fully understand their greater-mileage construction—you'll be ready to give Lancasters a trial.

The Ways Of Old Egypt Exploited In Modern Adaptations

The Egyptian influence in Fashion asserts itself with all the former power of King Tut-ankh-Amen, himself. Of course the prints reflect Egyptian designs and colorings more forcefully than all. There are, however, Egyptian ornaments that make way for clever accessories and Egyptian borders that have been interpreted in unique ways for present-day fashionings. All these details—and even more—are reflected in representations here—in displays that will make the choosing of blouses, dresses, millinery or accessories a pleasurable event.

FRENCH CABINET IS UNANIMOUS AGAINST THE GERMAN OFFER

Paris, May 2.—The French Cabinet voted unanimously today to reject the German offer for settlement of reparations made yesterday in a note to all the Allies.

The German proposal to pay thirty billion gold marks was nowhere favorably received. The French believe it is not sufficiently safeguarded against the possibility of default. There are technicalities, they claim, in the German scheme which would permit Germany to avoid her obligations in the eight year period over which the payment would extend.

London, May 2.—German markets dropped thirty-five thousand to the pound sterling on the London Exchange today. This crash followed a statement that the French rejected the German proposal for a revision of the reparations.

IYRONE SUFFERS $150,000 LOSS BY FIRE YESTERDAY

Tyone, May 2.—Fire originating in the rear room of the John H. Winters store in the Stevens estate block on Pennsylvania avenue, near Tenth street, Tyone Wednesday morning shortly before 7 o'clock, spread such headway before being discovered that it quickly spread to the Miller block and the Miller block, both on Pennsylvania avenue, causing a loss in excess of $150,000.

Seven families sleeping quarters in the different buildings and all were driven from their homes and most of their belongings were destroyed, other by fire or water.

The Stevens building in which the fire originated suffered worse while the Miller building, better known as the Brunswick hotel, was badly damaged possibly to the extent that it will have to be torn down.

In the Stevens building on the first floor were the law offices of Pascoe and Payne. The damage here was largely due to smoke and water. The Amos room room, conducted by James H. Winters, was gutted, while the Mitchell and Campbell general store, suffered heavy damage to the stock from water, although the fire did not do so much damage to the lower floor in the front.

On the first floor of the Miller building William Patrick conducted a confectionery on the first floor, occupying a large portion of the building. The remainder of the first floor was occupied by the Farrell military store. The front of this building was saved from total destruction but the store was badly soaked with water so that the stocks are practically a total loss.

In both these buildings, the upper floors were divided into apartments and nine families were either burned out or had their personal property destroyed by water. However, a portion of the furniture in a number of apartments in the front was taken out before being damaged.

The United Telephone company exchange was located on the third floor of the Stevens building, in the rear, and was totally destroyed by the fire. D. E. C. Schaefer had his dental parlors in the Stevens building, also, and his loss is practically total. The office of J. A. Hoffman real-estate and insurance agent was also destroyed.

The Miller block is occupied by an arm and navy store on the lower floor. While this building did not suffer much damage from fire, two families occupying apartments on the second floor moved out and the stock in the store was water soaked and the loss will be considerable.

Flames had the blaze under control around 9 o'clock and then pulled down the dangerous portions of the brick walls. The Stevens building is owned by the A. A. Stevens estate and the Brunswick hotel by Miller brothers.

Owners of both buildings carried some insurance, while the various store owners and most of the families carried partial insurance on their stock and personal property.

RUSSIAN CHURCHMEN CHEER GREETINGS BY M. E. BISHOP

Moscow, May 2.—The All Russian Church-Congress today by unanimous vote deposed the Metropolitan Tikhon, Patriarch of all Russia, who is facing trial for treason to the Soviet government. Tikhon was denounced as a traitor, in resolution adopted by the Congress. His Patriarchate was ordered abolished.

Moscow, May 3.—White-haired Bishops, their diamond crosses flashing in the light of thousands of candles mingled with be-whiskered Metropolites in white caps at the Convention of the Priests of Russia today, the occasion is to decide the future of the Russian religion.

Bishop Blake of the Methodist Episcopal church of America, a contrast in his American garb, brought to the gathering the affectionate greeting of American Churchmen in an address which was heartily cheered.

Hardly was the procession under way before Bishop Wodensky, an image of a splendid mystic, with his hooked nose and small pointed beard, swayed the gathering in an impassioned speech. He skillfully did Bishop Wodensky play upon the minds of the gathering that when he finished the Convention voted enthusiastically to send his address to the all Russian Executive Committee and Premier Lenin with their blessings. The decision was unanimous.

LUMBER CITY FOLK START MOVEMENT FOR BETTER ROADS

Lumber City people have been bitten by the "good roads" bug and have launched a movement looking to the development of an organization whose purpose will be to secure some improvement on Route No. 62, extending from Curwensville through to Mahaffey. This is a highly important route and furnishes connection with both Indiana and Cambria county seats.

At a meeting held on April 27th preliminary plans were laid, a "war chest" fund created and another meeting called for Tuesday, May 8th at which time it is expected definite plans will be made to bring the necessity for improving this road to the attention of the State Highway Department. Senator Joseph O. Clark of Glen Campbell, is expected to be present at this meeting and all those living along or that would be benefited by having this road improved are requested to attend.

The meeting will be held in I. O. O. F. hall at Lumber City and the local committee ask you to come and bring an auto load of friends of the road along.

NEW YORK CALLS ON RADIO TO STAMP OUT KIDNAPING REVIVAL

Schenectady, N. Y., May 3.—There is no joy, no jazzy melody, in the sound waves that are broadcast by radio station WGY.

Sadness amplified makes the voice of the wireless mournful. Have you heard it?

It is the voice of a father and a mother, mingled in a common sorrow, calling for their lost son. The little boy is six-year-old Verner Alexanderson kidnapped at play. "Kidnapping a little child is the roughest crime—a crime against childhood and parenthood," says Ernest S. W. Alexanderson, consulting engineer of the General Electric Company and chief engineer of the Radio Corporation of America.

The father built station WGY and is counting on its powerful voice to find young Verner and the man who lured him away with promises of fun and a box to keep them in. Mothers and fathers in this upstate region are alarmed at what appears to be a revival of the crime of kidnapping—two within two months, the Schenectady case and the Minkins case in Albany early in March.

Here is a record of kidnapped children in these twin cities:

- 1877—John Conway, 4; found alive; abductors captured.
- 1878—Billy Clark, 5; body found; abductors escaped.
- 1919—Alexis Schaeffer, 12; never found.
- 1923—Leopold Minkin, 3; found at Newburgh, N. Y., maid arrested.
- 1923—Verner Alexanderson, 6; kidnapped April 30.

Ransom is believed to have been the incentive for Verner's kidnapping though his father protests that he is not wealthy.

"A suppressed hunger of mother love was given as the reason why a nursemaid went away with the Minkin baby," says Chief of Police Frank Lash, of Albany. "There have been many cases in police records like that."

New York, N. Y., May 3.—Police today learned that a boy answering the description of Verner Alexanderson, aged six, kidnapped son of E. W. Alexanderson, had been seen at the

This tip was given by Alexander Marshall of Coroga, N. Y., who told police his mother and sister saw a child which was being led by a man and a woman. The child was weeping. The man answered the description of the man who lured the boy away.

Police of Schenectady, where the boy was stolen, were notified.

PRESIDENT GIVES HIS APPROVAL TO V. F. W. MAY 30. POPPY SALE

Washington, D. C., May 2.—President Harding has endorsed the Veterans of Foreign Wars campaign to have every man, woman and child in America wear a Flanders poppy on Memorial Day. He has favored the adoption of the poppy as a memorial flower since the overseas veterans' organization sponsored it three years ago, and has endorsed each year's campaign. His letter to Col. Tillinghast L. Huston, commander-in-chief of the V. F. W., reads as follows:

My dear Colonel Huston: I am glad to express my accord with the plan which the Veterans of Foreign Wars have put forth to have the people generally wear a poppy on Memorial Day, as a testimonial of continuing interest and sympathy in the great cause of which that flower has become in a way emblematic. I hope the proposal will be generally accepted this year, for it is certainly an appealing testimony of the nation's continuing sense of its concern for the men who served it during the world war.

Most sincerely yours,
WARREN G. HARDING.

LAST DAY FOR ENTRY IN CAPABLE SWIMMER IS HERE TO SHOW HOW TO SAVE DROWNERS

Captain William G. Krieb of the American Red Cross life saving corps arrived in Clearfield on Wednesday and will be here Wednesday and Thursday for the purpose of organizing a life saving corps in Clearfield.

While here Capt. Krieb gave the life saving test to Mr. Pierce and Mr. Oberdick who, have both qualified as examiners and will be glad to give any one the test who desires to take it.

The purpose of the life saving corps is to thoroughly instruct the swimmers so that in case of an emergency they will know how to handle a patient to the best advantage. Since the organization of the corps there have been a great many lives saved that would have been lost if the rescuer had not known how to administer artificial respiration and properly care for the patient.

COSTS RESERVED OTHER COURT

The case of Earl Galtier and Nick Aloi, which was brought to court yesterday morning in connection with the plaintiff in the case. Suit was brought by the plaintiff against the defendants to recover damages for the loss of a car on Third street.

The last case to be tried today was that of Earl Galtier and Nick Aloi, who brought suit against Andrew Morrie, a Clearfield personal injuries received in which all the evidence showed largely the plaintiff's fault.

The parties are Galtier and Aloi and live in the upper part of town. Several months ago Andrew Morrie himself by sending his children when they were near his property. Galtier and Aloi like the idea of a suit and went to his neighbor's back yard and turned Andrew's car into the street to "keep his tongue off the back of his head."

Being on his "back" Galtier was surrounded by his car and got quite angry and "made fight" with Morrie. Morrie told his neighbor that he was a man of peace and that he would not insist that he should be hurt. He told his neighbor that he would leave the yard and turn the car around and go home. He told his neighbor that he would go home and turn the car around and go home.

The case was then taken up by the court. The court said that the plaintiff had the burden of proof and that he had failed to prove his case. The court then dismissed the case.

73 Women Will Serve On Indiana County Juries At This Court

Indiana, Pa., May 2.—Seventy-three good women and true, according to the accepted saying, have, for the first time, been summoned as jurors for a session of court in Indiana county. They will serve on grand, petit and traverse juries with 131 men and while they will form the minority, thirty-five per cent of the total, to be exact they will make themselves heard in the councils. Of course they will. Women were given the franchise some time ago, through constitutional amendment, now they are given another requisite of responsibility with the same consciousness that they devote to their other domestic and public affairs.

Women Fade Because They Eat Too Much

Male Your Food And You Will Remain Beautiful, Says Johns Hopkins Professor

Philadelphia, May 1. (United Press)—"To stay young and fresh, eat your food, inhale it," was, according to Dr. Paul Hantz, of Johns Hopkins University, the secret of perpetual youthfulness. The professor revealed to members of the Johns Hopkins Society.

Why is it that our modern goddesses start to break when they pass their teens? he asked. "At 25 they are no longer old. Their faces are smooth and lined. Their freshness and youth has departed."

"By overeating," he answered. "A study of mythology shows that the gods and goddesses never ate and drank, in consequence, perpetually youthful. When a god or goddess wanted a meal he hovered over a living sacrifice and inhaled the essence of a roast bullock. That satisfied him. He sailed away in the upper air well nourished."

"Now our modern goddesses are fading before our eyes because they cannot tame their desire for food. They should content themselves with the aroma or incense of delicately cooked food."

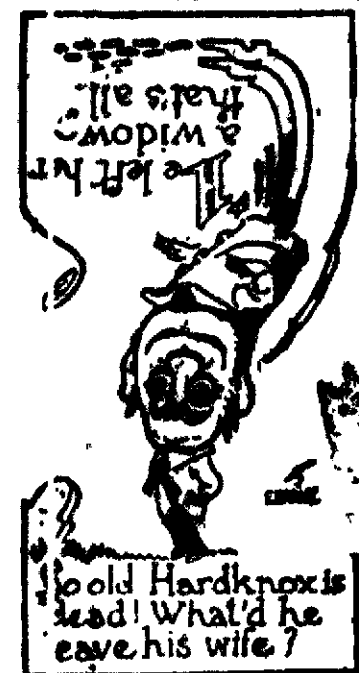

"If they want a cigarette they should sit near some one who is smoking, never smoke themselves."

"Their fragility and youthfulness would increase in proportion as they limited their food to liquid diet, with occasional inhalations of solid food."

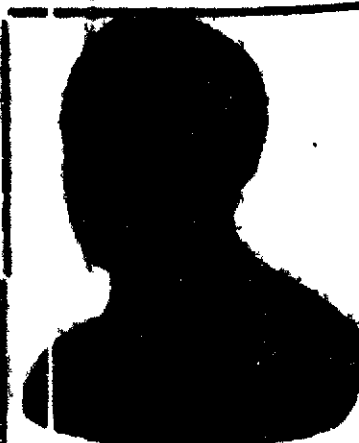

"If women persist in following the mortal custom of consuming large quantities of gross food, she will continue to fade and droop before our eyes. She will also coarsen herself."

"To be young and beautiful she must get back to the condition of her ancestors who dined off the wing of a chicken and a cup of tea."

McCONNELL ESCAPES PUNISHMENT; JURY DISCHARGED AGAIN

Philadelphia, May 2.—William C. McConnell, former federal prohibition director for Pennsylvania and 28 others, charged with conspiracy to issue fraudulent permits for the withdrawal of whisky, were freed late today by order of Judge J. Whitaker Thomas in United States district court, because the government was unable to prove a general conspiracy. The case had been on trial more than a week.

Judge Thompson halted the trial long enough to inform government counsel that the case could go no further until evidence was submitted to show that each of the defendants knew of the conspiracy on the part of the others.

The jury was ordered withdrawn for an hour, while Assistant United States Attorney Paul MacElree argued the matter.

Describing Alleged Violation.
Mr. MacElree reviewed the evidence already submitted to show there was a conspiracy. He told how liquor had been withdrawn on alleged federal permits in the name of certain companies whose officers testified that they had never made application for the whisky withdrawn. He also told how the alleged illegality withdrawn liquor had been diverted to persons other than those named in the permits. The evidence already submitted, Mr. MacElree contended, was sufficient for the jury to decide that there was a conspiracy.

"We will yet prove," he said, "that McConnell and his assistants received actual notice of many of the violations which were violent."

"The government charges," said Mr. MacElree, "that Albert F. Slater, McConnell's secretary, Hiram W. Benner, in charge of the permit division under McConnell, and McConnell caused the removal of the papers that were lost in the prohibition office.

"In the Philadelphia office, Slater had the keys. In the Pittsburgh office, a young woman was ordered to stop making the daily records and Samuel B. Wolfe, in charge of the Pittsburgh office under McConnell, with McConnell's knowledge ordered some of the files brought to him and never returned them."

"We cannot produce any witnesses to say that the defendants sat around the table and 'doped out' this plot. The jury must deduce from their conduct that they had a unity of purpose to defraud the government."

Says Indictment Ambiguous.
Judge Thompson said:
"The government has shown four separate conspiracies and it is presuming to show the connection of various defendants with various sub-conspiracies. How does this establish a general conspiracy on the part of all the defendants? This has been thrashed out before when the demurrers on the indictments were heard. It is what I call an unusually ambiguous sort of indictment, attempting to make one conspiracy out of four."

The court then asked Mr. MacElree to give his view on this phase of the case.

After a lengthy argument by Mr. MacElree, Judge Thompson consented to let the case go on. In reply to contention of defense counsel that no general conspiracy existed, Mr. MacElree argued it was not necessary to show a formal agreement, or that all the defendants knew what the others did, but only that they acted together to produce the alleged illegal result.

The trial today was marked by the efforts of the government to learn the circumstances veiling the disappearance of a mass of documentary evidence.

Fifty liquor permits, which the government contends were forged, disappeared from locked government files, some time prior to December, 1921, it was testified late yesterday in the United States district court.

Smartly Cut Sweater

Coat of Varied Colors

Showing a smartly cut sweater coat of varied colors. It is worn with a white skirt and a blue hat.

Faille Ribbon Holds Lead for the Season

Wide printed satin and faille ribbon challenge leadership for its acknowledged leadership. Entire belting of ribbon crowns and crowns of company timbo brims often enough. At least irregular trim edges of some of these regular blocked shapes are a necessity chic and those bound with ribbon—and not a stereotyped heading either—whip, ad over, or fitted edged ribbon run riot at present. Raw, hair and vases woven ribbons are entering the style field, too—and will mean much for summer's here. However, far more latitude is allowed in materials this year than in color, shape or trimming.

There are two sides to the choice of color—the costume hat, the other the smart new hat established by the studio masters. Color does not play a major role in one smart shade, but as a "present" in many tones. Head- or shadow—capable, purple, opal to Chopard effects standing out—but black and white are equal ends of the rainbow to choose from and are often allied.

In fact, black and white are spelling spring in costume capitals. Certain and navy form another combination that the French think well of always, but this year there's more navy and grey and navy or navy with almond grey, perhaps.

The utter absence of color makes an only appearance this season. White is winning its way beyond all doubts for this time of the year. It was tried out slightly in winter just before the all hats came in, but it did not register a big hit. However, from the trend of things fashionable at present white is becoming a prominent factor—and a successful one.

Coats, Jackets, Frocks in the Fashion Picture

Top coats for spring show large plaids and checks in camel's hair, basket weaves, flannels, tweeds and other soft materials.

The velvet coat is losing its tail and line and severe effect and is being trimmed with a broad and with a soft lace, which has a softening effect.

Quilted silk is used to make smart short jackets that are worn with straight, plain skirts. Sometimes the quilting is embroidery or beading is about the collar and cuffs. In these quilted garments are especially shown.

Gorgeous evening wraps are made of shimmering silk or silver cloth having very full from the shoulders and colored with white fox or white ermine.

Trends for the coming summer are frequently embroidered heavily in self or in contrasting colors, or printed with Persian or Paisley designs.

A smart straight-line frock of velvety blue is worn over a slip of satin a little darker in tone and girdled elaborately with points a trifle below the natural waistline.

Oldie Paris Frocks

At night from Paris are the most exquisite little frocks for the small dancer. They are made of the sheerest silk put together by hand and with effective contrasts of color. One of white has attractive embroidery on the skirt. Another has narrow bands of blue color inserted with fagging. A third of peach color is shown with blue.

Ermine Scarf

At the opera recently was seen a gorgeous scarf of white ermine edged with long white fringe. It was slightly smaller than the regulation Spanish scarf.

IOWA AUXILIARY HELPS MANY

Relief for Disabled, According to Report of Committee Head, Reaches Nearly $5,000.

Woman relatives of former service men, banded together as members of the Iowa auxiliary of the American Legion, have a remarkable record for relief work completed among disabled soldiers.

Nearly $5,000 was spent by the members of the organization, according to reports just made public by Mrs. W. A. Quinn, head of the welfare and hospital relief committee of the organization.

Men in Iowa hospitals (came in for the lion's share of the benefits, according to Mrs. Quinn's report. Disabled men in three hospitals now bear radio collect, due to the activities of the relief committee of the auxiliary, for complete sets have been installed in the hospitals.

Patients in the state hospitals received birthday boxes, sent them by women of the auxiliary, and Iowa men in other hospitals throughout the United States have received more than 1,000 boxes of necessities prepared by these active workers. The government hospital at Tucson, Ariz., alone received 400 boxes from the Iowans, and patients there declared that the arrival of these boxes was the event of their Christmas day.

Gifts from the women included clothing, toilet articles, stationery, subscriptions to magazines, couch cushions and recreational equipment.

Much money was spent in direct relief work. Mrs. Quinn estimated that $4,767 had been used by her committee during the year's activity. And the auxiliary in Iowa plans to continue the work, expecting to increase the amount of money expended during the past year.

Much money was spent in direct relief work. Mrs. Quinn estimated that $4,767 had been used by her committee during the year's activity. And the auxiliary in Iowa plans to continue the work, expecting to increase the amount of money expended during the past year.

Patients in the state hospitals received birthday boxes, sent them by women of the auxiliary, and Iowa men in other hospitals throughout the United States have received more than 1,000 boxes of necessities prepared by these active workers. The government hospital at Tucson, Ariz., alone received 400 boxes from the Iowans, and patients there declared that the arrival of these boxes was the event of their Christmas day.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

The long-continued drought of last summer and fall, together with their natural enemies and the large number of fishermen have about depopulated the trout streams of Pennsylvania and something has to be done, and that mighty quick, if trout fishing is not soon to be in fact a thing of the past.

What to do and when to do it are the two things confronting the Fisheries Department of the State and the trout fishermen. Every fellow appears to have a remedy of his own and we are going to once more re-assess ours. We believe the season to be entirely too long and believe the real remedy would be to lop a month or six weeks off the latter end of the season.

Many fishermen are also advocating the closing of all trout streams to fishermen for at least one mile from the source of such streams, they to be maintained and known as "nursery streams" and no fisherman be allowed to disturb them. As it is now many fishermen go on the streams and when they can't find fish in the lower or larger stream invade the upper tributaries and snake out all the baby trout they can catch, which they style "camp trout" and cook them in a 4 and 5 inch trout in the camp.

This practice constitutes the greatest drain on our trout streams and if these nursery streams were once established, we believe within a year or two there would be a great many legal sized trout in our streams. Fish Commissioner Buller, we believe has ample authority under the present fish laws of the State to close any trout stream as a "nursery stream" which he sees fit to do, and we surely think he should exercise that authority before the trout are all gone.

For some reason or other Clearfield county has been very much neglected the past five or six years when it came to planting trout by the State authorities and it ought to be pretty near time we are getting what is coming to us along this line.

If we can't get any trout from the State Congressman Swoope ought to use his good offices toward getting some from the U. S. Hatchery at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. as we note he has secured a car load for Centre county streams, and the State has been taking excellent care of Centre county all the time.

The cost of living has increased 93.8 per cent in the United States during the past ten years. Secretary of Labor Davis announced today, on the basis of official reports.

The increase included: Food, 42 per cent; clothing, 74.4; housing, 62.4; fuel and lighting, 86.2; furniture 117.4; miscellaneous commodities 100.3. Looks as though more than sugar should be boycotted.

Real scandal in the garden. Mrs. Alma G. Gibbons, county home demonstrator at Albionville, S. C. has found a large sized purple potato turnip with 76 small Irish potatoes growing from its roots. The count is official.

Check up pipe smokers. The danger to smokers from nicotine poisoning is declared by D. E. P. Roger to be "so small as to be almost negligible." Dr. Roger's opinion is based on experiments conducted by himself to determine the action of fire on the tobacco consumed. He has just published an account of them.

He first took ten grains of tobacco steeped in alcohol and water in order to extract all the nicotine. He said the solution was strong enough to kill a dog weighing fifty-six pounds. He then took a similar quantity.

Banner Lye

is easy to use

No other lye is so easy and convenient. No other lye or soap cleans and disinfects so easily and thoroughly as Banner Lye. It is not only a lye, but a powerful cleanser and disinfectant. Use it for cleaning your kitchen, cellar, sink, dairy, milk-pans and bottles, for softening water, and the labor of washing and cleaning will be cut in half.

and saves money besides. A can of Banner Lye, 5 1/2 pounds of kitchen grease, ten minutes' easy work (no boiling or large kettles), and you have 10 pounds of hard soap or 20 gallons of soft soap.

of the same tobacco and burned it in a pipe so constructed as to retain all the smoke. The liquid resulting was found to have no worse effect on a dog than to trouble his digestion. The dog was of the same weight as the dog on which nicotine had been used with fatal effect.

Dr. Roger says he found combustion destroys the nicotine, or rather transforms it into cresols, phenols and other substances which if they are rather irritating are nevertheless excellent antiseptics. The pipe or cigarette holder, he says, should be kept clean, but with that danger guarded against there is no other. "In these conditions" he states in conclusion, "tobacco may be even good for the health."

The official campaign total in State college's $2,000,000 building fund drive was $1,207,621.00, on April 29 one week ago. Every county in the state has made a pledge to the fund, except Fulton county. Blah county stands eleventh in the list, with pledges totaling $13,867. Centre county stands first, with $107,200.02. Allegheny is second, Cambria third, Philadelphia, fourth and Clearfield fifth. A little less than $200,000 needed to reach the goal.

If all the members of the student and ex-student who have not yet agreed to contribute would make a reasonable pledge, half the required would be raised. Other interests could raise the balance.

The sugar boycott by the housewives of the nation is commencing to bring the answer and the price of this necessity has already begun to drop on the New York market. Don't buy a pound of sugar more than your immediate needs, as economists agree a national boycott will have a marked and rapid effect on sugar quotations. The hope of the gamblers in the product they asserted, was to create artificially a panic that would cause hoarding and thereby lift the price until they could unload.

There is no doubt that the rise in the price of sugar is the result of speculation and if the Department of Justice does its duty it will put a good many people in jail. Probably the most effective thing that can be done is the boycott by the women. Women are the most effective boycotters in the world. They can do it better than the men. Some authorities claim this to be the most effective boycott that has ever occurred in the history of the country.

THIS LITTLE BABY GIRL

Was Benefited by the Good Her Mother Got from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Pittsburgh, Pa.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before my little girl was born, and the effect it had was wonderful. This will be the first child I have nursed, as I had to nurse my two boys up on my teat. I was very nervous and worried, and after I read about the Vegetable Compound I tried it and kept on with it. I still continue its use and recommend it to my friends. You may publish these facts as a testimonial for your medicine."—Mrs. W. KLINGE, 169 Plymouth St., Pittsburgh, Pa.

It is remarkable how many cases have been reported similar to this one. Many mothers are left in a weakened and run-down condition after the birth of the child and for such mothers the care of the baby is well-nigh impossible. Not only is it hard for the mother, but the child itself will indirectly suffer. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent tonic for the mother at this time. It is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs, and does not contain any harmful drugs. It can be taken in safety by the nursing mother.

Time To Think of Porch Furniture

The time is here when you think of making the porch as attractive as you can. And where would you naturally think of looking for such things unless it would be right here where we have gathered many things for the furnishing of your porch?

COOLMOR Wind Safe SELF HANGING PORCH SHADES

Made Under Patent License

—unlike most Porch Shades—add to the appearance of your home for the reason that beautiful color combinations are easily secured with the Coolmor wide and narrow slat alternate weave which it is impossible to secure when Shades are made entirely of wide slats or entirely of narrow slats. Let us show you the beautiful Coolmor Color combinations.

—are the only porch shades that are made with a wide slat alternated with a narrow slat. This patented weave is the ideal construction. It gives all the ventilation desired, which is not possible with "all-wide slat" shades—and at the same time thoroughly shades the porch.

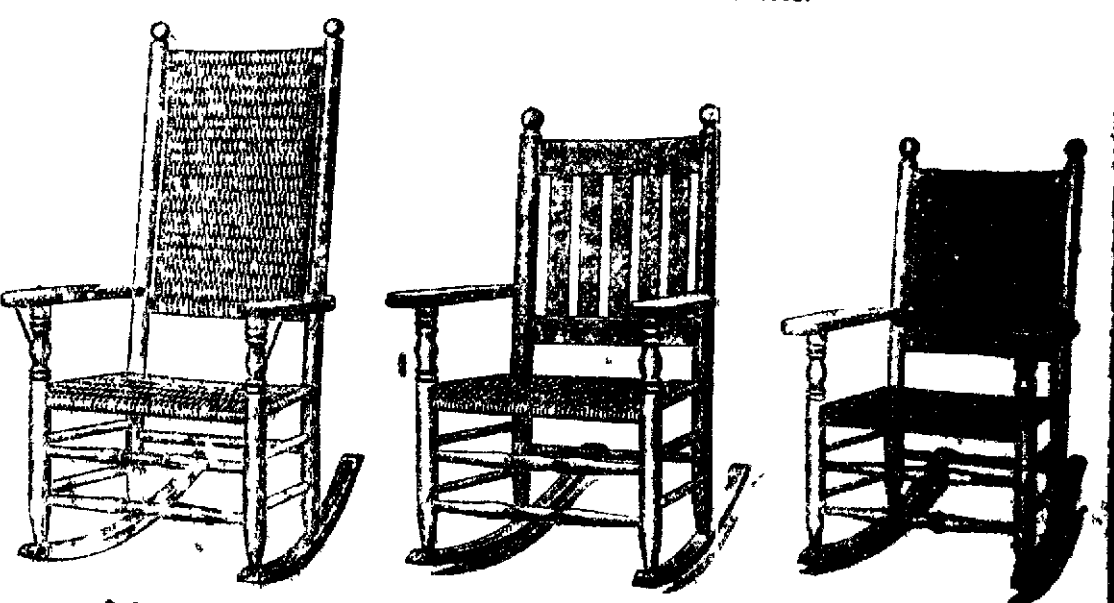

COOLMOR Wind-Safe Porch Shades are made of very heavy slats tightly bound together with large seine twine warp. Both edges of each shade are woven with double warps. That is, there are four big, strong seine twine warps at each edge. Most Shades have only two warps at each edge.

The larger sizes in COOLMOR Shades have extra warps woven in the middle of the Shade. These extra warps add very greatly to the strength and durability of Coolmor Wind-Safe Porch Shades.

The Most Comfortable Porch Chairs You Ever Sat In

We are proud of our Porch Chairs from a comfort, artistic and price standpoint. Don't the pictures, which are exact reproductions of the Chairs, look roomy and inviting?

All have extra heavy stock strongly woven cane bottoms, while some have slat backs and others cane backs. All are finished in water-proof finishes in brown, green and natural colors.

CONCERNING THAT PUZZLE KNOWN AS A BOY

It is Boys' Week, and everybody is talking about them. The rest of the year their mothers do the thinking. One of the great of one amateur is that boys are easier to read than to live with.

Among comic need must be listed an old-fashioned attic, a large and well-provided barn, ten square miles of country and a continuous movie for every male over two and under ten. With these buffers between him and humanity—especially the feminine half of it—he would be happy. No, we don't know how it can be arranged; and mean-while the woman struggles along doing the best she can for her mother, her aunt, her teacher to a being considerably less intelligible to her than an Australian Bushlady.

What are you to think of the seven-year-old who gaily informs you that he has plucked the Golden Pheasant—that he knows where there's a skeleton of a d-e-a-d-e-a-t?

What are you going to do to the twelve-year-old who looks you blandly in the eye and answers "Ov-right" when you tell him to come straight home from school and mow the lawn—then appears at ten minutes past dinner time insisting that you never uttered and he never assented to the what?

What are you to say to the sixteen-year-old who takes longer than his sister to dress for a party, who waxes a hair out every week and who vegetable cooking fat to give the corned beef a fine pompadour who will go without an overcoat all winter rather than wear last winter's coat with sleeves an inch too short.

Vanity, thy name is boy! He begins a fight to ask his grandmother if he is "pretty" (yes, we mean a real boy, not a Nancy or a Lizzie). At eighteen he doesn't ask—he knows! And he is more fussy than any daughter of Eve about the clothes he wears. He comes home from college with his pompadour "writ in the middle" and he is hurt because the improvement to his style of beauty doesn't instantly hit the family in the eye. (Blame it on the fact that he towers above most of its members; they might be expected for not nothing the change in the decoration of the top story.)

The favor of princes is not more tickle than the friendship of boys. David and Jonathan do their home work together, secret each other to the movies, have around each other's homelife until it is even forth by less in-

TILE DRAINAGE OF ORCHARD

Just as Beneficial and Productive of Results as in Field of Corn or Potatoes.

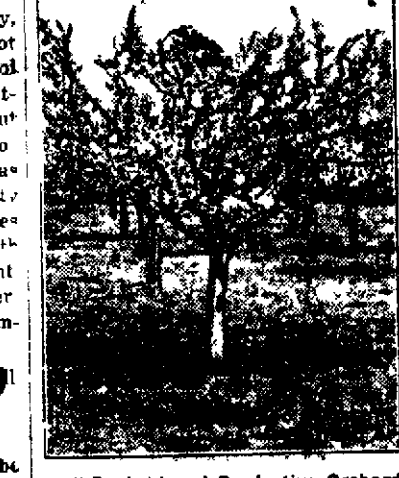

The drainage is just as beneficial and productive of results in the average farm orchard as in the field of corn or potatoes. The orchard soil, we find, needs venting and ventilating just as any other soil, and tilling renders the rootbed all the more retentive of needed moisture, so necessary to the fruit in the growing season. Says a writer in Successful Farming: "Wet soils are cold soils and often sour, neither of which produces the best of apples, peaches or pears. Cultivating the wet soil about the roots of the trees is just as damaging as plowing the wet soil about the roots of corn or potatoes for the time being and certain weeds are difficult of eradication in the orchards where it is too wet to work the ground."

None of the orchards set in the past have long remained in good, thriving growing order when planted on poorly drained soil. So many we have known to select a high clay spot on the farm close to the residence for their orchard and then get such poor results many times because the soil itself was wet and poorly drained. It seems that surface drainage might be sufficient in one way since no water will stand on the surface about the trees, but it is that wet, clammy old clay about the roots that absorbs and holds the water which does the damage. The ideal orchard soil is that in which the water is either moving up or down every day in the year. In wet weather the rain or melting snow water seeps readily down to under ground drains. In dry weather capillary action has become well established and the soil water is coming up to feed the trees from vast storage basins underground. In the wet, clammy, undrained rootbed the water neither moves up or down except in very limited quantities. For some reason the wet undrained soil becomes practically closed to successful capillary action. It absorbs just so much water in times of flood and will not admit another drop.

There is a mistaken notion abroad that the drainage removes much plant food from the soil. We find the well-drained soil if anything becomes more fertile and productive with each passing season. The point disputed seems to be that the drainage in removing surplus water from the land

Not too much spending money, plenty to eat ("enough" is not "plenty" for a boy), work in school and some work out of it, all the outdoor life possible—these are about the only safe general prescription for treating boyhood. The disease has to run its course for twenty or thirty years. What the feminine nurse would do if they weren't in love with their vain forgetful little, indolent, irrepressible barbaric, indecipherable young patients we can't imagine!

Well-Drained and Productive Orchard.

also removes much potash and phosphorus soluble in this surplus water. A porous, well-drained soil, we find, becomes much like a great carbon or charcoal filter, and any elements removed by cropping are readily reabsorbed from the water which may bring any new supply along. Nature unlocks the elements for the roots of our orchard trees, but permits very small amounts, if any, to escape through any artificial drain we may construct. This plant food absorbed from surface fertilizers and manures is quickly combined and locked into the subsoil combinations before it has any chance to escape. By draining our orchard soil we deepen the rootbed and give our trees a bigger, better feeding ground.

BEST LOCATION FOR ORCHARD

Site Should Have No Rock Ledges or Hardpan Over Surface and Be Well Drained.

The orchard must be on a good site with no rock ledges or hardpan over the surface, well drained and without unusual danger from frosts; the trees must have good vitality, without decayed trunks, cankers that girdle the limbs, or weakness that would make good growth impossible; and, finally, the varieties must be good unless it is practicable to top-graft the trees.

LIME-SULPHUR KILLS SCALE

Too Many Growers Are Careless in Application and Insect Gets Considerable Start.

Concentrated lime-sulphur, one part to eight parts of water, has been recommended for the control of scale, but too many growers are careless in the application and the scale gets a start. Use either lime-sulphur or a good miscible oil. Scalecide is a miscible oil that is very effective in control of scale insects.

Surest Independence.

There is no independence that can be sure but a dependence upon one's self.

POULTRY

CHICKS NEED GROWING MASH

When One Month Old Use Whole Wheat and Cracked Corn Instead of Scratch Mixture.

When chicks are four weeks of age the following mash may be substituted for the starting mash, the whole wheat and coarser cracked corn being used instead of the scratch mixture of fine cracked corn and cracked wheat corn.

Healthy and Vigorous Chick.

meal 40 pounds, bran, 15 pounds shorts, 15 pounds, ground, barley or ground oats, 10 pounds, meat meal 1 pound; bone meal, 5 pounds.

The growing mash should be kept before young pullets at all times until they are ready for the laying house. Three or four pounds of feed are required for the production of one pound of gain, live weight.

The young cockerels should be separated from the pullets when they weigh from 1 1/2 to 2 pounds, and those not needed for breeding stock should be fattened and marketed. Early hatched cockerels, marketed early in the season, are usually a better paying proposition than when they are kept until 4 or 5 pounds and sold on a lower market. The young pullet should be given every opportunity to develop as she needs a vigorous body of strong constitution and vitality for heavy egg production. She will not have it if she is stunted in any manner.—O. C. Ufford, Poultry Department, Colorado Agricultural College.

KEEP ALL POULTRY HEALTHY

Wise Poultryman Keeps House Clean and Well Ventilated—Disinfectant.

Every poultry raiser knows that fowls thrive best in clean, well ventilated places. By keeping the houses, coops, pens and runways sprayed with a concentrated lysol solution you will do a great deal toward promoting good health and productivity among your poultry.

Many of the most successful poultry raisers use this lysol solution around their poultry houses at least every other week. The solution is made by dissolving a small can of lysol in five gallons of water. A sprinkling can hand spray, or an old wash broom may be used to apply the solution.

DON'T FEED FOWLS HEAVILY

Poultry Being Prepared for Shipment Should Not Have Large Amount of Grain.

Don't feed heavily before shipping and expect to get paid for the weight of your feed. Heavy feeding of birds that are accustomed to range causes digestive troubles in shipment, and consequently large shrinkage in weight, to say nothing of off-condition.

POULTRY NOTES

A lazy hen is not a well one.

Turkeys are profitable, but need a lot of care to get them started.

Moving layers from coop to coop frequently checks egg production.

Turkeys can eat almost any kind of feed after they are three months old.

It is common knowledge that hens and pullets should be out of doors as much as possible during the winter.

Ordinarily, a gander may be mated with from one to four geese, although pair or trio matings generally give the best results. Wild geese seldom mate with more than one goose.

Many breeders find it pays to fatten broilers for a week or ten days on a sloppy mash of sour milk and cornmeal.

Eggs kept for hatching purposes that are not set immediately should be turned at least once a day and they should be handled gently.

Raising early broilers simply means starting the chicks as usual and following with scratch grain and a growing mash until nearly ready for market.

Matches Should Be Cheap.

One pound of phosphorus is sufficient to head 1,000,000 matches.

SCHOOLS USE OUR MILK ON UNDERWEIGHT SCHOLARS

There is a real reason why the local board of education selected our milk for use in the work of bringing the scholars that are underweight up to the proper weight.

There is everything in it that should be in a perfect milk, plus the added safety of the pasteurization process. The milk is brought here from farms where the cows are fed for the production of high grade milk, and then we put this same milk through the pasteurization process.

Every pupil in the schools who has been using our milk has shown an increase in weight since starting to drink his or her pint of milk a day.

Alma Gluck's Daughter Elopes

Mrs. Clara Boothe, of South Bend, Conn., will soon make a tour of the country on behalf of the Equal Rights Campaign of the National Woman's Party.

New tied and dyed silks are used for fashionable underwear and negligees. The tie length of crepe de chine or georgette into hard knots. Dye the fabric. Then untie the knots and behold the most bizarre and beautiful results. Illustrated are the two new step-in combinations designed to accom any low-waisted frocks.

hours are spent on the palatial Keweenaw or Assiniboia. Broad decks, verandah cafes, luxuriant public rooms, roomy cabins—some with shower baths—and spacious dining saloons, make the lake traveler think he or she is on an ocean liner, with the difference that the water is calmer.

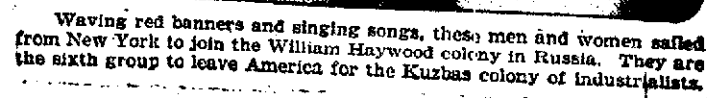

The passage from Lake Huron into Lake Superior is made through a marvel of engineering, the Soo Canal, another demonstration of international amity.

Although Lake Superior was linked to the eastern lakes by St. Mary's River... it was cut off from traffic by long, dangerous rapids. By building two canals, one on the Canadian and the other on the American side, a gateway was made through which passes a great annual tonnage that passes through either Panama or Suez canals.

The Canadian canal took over seven years to build and is 7,475 feet long and embraces one 900-foot lock that is 60 feet wide and raises the water 25 feet. Through these locks pass huge volumes of wheat grown on both American and Canadian prairies, transported mostly by barge-laden. These lake boats are sort of moving storehouses and the fleet is capable of moving 8,000,000 bushels of wheat at one time.

After the steel steamer Thelma Phoebe of the Panama Islands went ashore at Fishers Island, New York, she was boarded by prohibition agents who allege they found 3500 cases of whisky. One of the crew was drowned while attempting to reach shore.

By Condo

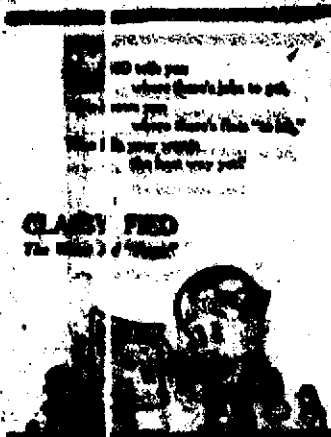

Flashy Jake, veteran timber topper, cleared a jump at Belmont Park, New York, with plenty to spare. Then while running on the flat he stumbled and broke his neck, his rider escaping unharmed when thrown over the horse's head.

As a usual thing Babe Ruth is "the whole show" at the Yankee Stadium, but President Harding was somewhat of an attraction himself when he went to see the Yanks defeat the Senators, 4 to 0. Babe very graciously welcomed the president to his province and slammed out a homer for the edification of his distinguished guest.

A political cartoon titled "THE STRUGGLE" depicting the political maneuvering surrounding the League of Nations. A large elephant, labeled "G.O.P." on its side, is being pushed by a man labeled "HARDING" (representing Warren G. Harding) onto a structure labeled "WORLD COURT". Another man, labeled "IRRECONCILABLES", is also present, holding a sign that says "IRRECONCILABLES". The scene is set on a path labeled "INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS". The cartoon is signed "H. H. H." in the bottom right corner.

What He Didn't Like About Helen.

Kenneth's little playmate, Helen, was to have a party. Only girls were to be invited, but Kenneth was aware of this fact. He longed for an invitation and expected one up to the day of the party. But alas! the invitation didn't come. Downhearted, he said to his mother: "You know, mother, I like Helen awfully well, but I certainly don't like her ways."

Playing Safe.

"We have asked her several times to sing, and she has refused each time." "If I were you, I'd let it go at that. Some of the strangers may go away thinking they've missed something."

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of looking young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. You don't want to look twenty or thirty years old when you are only a child in fact. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the greatest liver and bowel medicine in the world, will keep you young and healthy.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the greatest liver and bowel medicine in the world, will keep you young and healthy. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by keeping the liver and bowels in perfect condition. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known to be the greatest liver and bowel medicine in the world.

HIGH WATER MARK OF BOYS' WEEK TO BE REACHED TONIGHT WITH A BIG FREE SHOW AT THE AUDITORIUM

The highwater mark of Boys' Week in Clearfield is expected to be reached tonight when all the boys in the town will be honored guests of the Rotary Club at a big entertainment to be given in the auditorium of the Clearfield High School at 7:30 o'clock. There has been something thus far every day or night this week for the boys, but the "real doings" will be cracked wide open at 7:30 o'clock this evening when Chairman Browne and his committee introduce their galaxy of local musical and vaudeville stars to the audience which is expected to jam the big auditorium to the doors.

As this is boys' night, nobody will be admitted to the High School but boys, and every boy in the community is not only invited but expected to come. The program is one designed to especially appeal to boys and say, "Skinny, you'll miss a real and a rare treat if you are not on hand early to avoid the rush."

Big boys and little boys, fat boys and lean boys, white boys and black boys each and every one is expected and the entire Rotary Club will be disappointed if a single one of you fails to be on hand.

To give you some idea of the treat in store for you, boys, we again print herewith the list of entertainers scheduled to amuse and entertain you:

Vocal Quartette—Messrs. Victor Meredith, Clifford Shaw, Merle Shaw, Herbert Jury with Miss Myra Shaw at the piano.

Electric Supply Company Orchestra consisting of Miss Lena Fullington and Messrs. Bridge, Kissinger, Maharty, Turner and Jury.

Acrobatic Stunts—Bobbie Stephenson.

Vocalists—J. Emmet Harder, J. Paul Stauffer ("Gallagher & Shean") Wild West Rope Jumping—Jack Jury.

Legerdemain, Svengali—Fred Robinson of Curwensville.

In addition to the vaudeville entertainment, which will consume one hour and a half, a full radio program will follow with Herbert Mohney operating the receiving set.

Admission will be free to the boys and once more we urge all to be present to enjoy the fun.

Trench-Digging Crab.

One of the creatures most adept at mimicry is the fiddler crab. This curious creature is an expert in trench digging. He carries with him, as part of his body, an extraordinary weapon which serves as spade, sword and spoon. This is an enlargement of one claw shaped so much like a fiddle that it gives the crab its name.

His Preference.

Alvina had always longed for a dog. One day the nurse announced that if she would pray for it, God might send him a brother or a sister very soon. That night the nurse overheard him saying his prayers. He ended with: "Dear God, I would like a brother or a sister, but if it's just the same to you, I'd love rather have a dog."

Always With Us.

Until we reach the millennium we shall have drones and idlers, but humanity must always stand ready to cast the life-line whenever and wherever a fellow creature is battling against the undertow.

Shoe Buckle Ornaments Must Have the Fringe

Shoe ornaments for spring are not complete without their accompanying fringe, and the character of this ap-pendage is quite different from that of the past. Metal fringe in the past was a prominent part, and one finds it in various styles. A great deal of spring fringe is shown, and one number of these new introductions a deep fringe of these fringe combined with long and besides the drop from a decorative beaded or beaded gaiter. Striped and an old effect to many of the designs. Buckles that are in great demand in which is an initial and a great effect. One of these is a striking
on the metal base.

The Cross-Section Tells the Story

FIND out exactly what your money buys when you invest in Lancaster Tires. Come in and see the Lancaster Cut-Away Cross Section.

One-half of the section is intact—the other half carefully cut away to show you clearly what goes into these better tires—and why you get more miles out of them.

The tough, wear-fighting tread with extra broad, extra flat surface—

—the beveled buttresses that greatly reinforce the tread blocks—

—the liberal plies of heavily-gummed long-staple cotton cords that form the sturdy carcass—bead, breaker-strip, tough side-walls—all are "open for inspection."

Come in. See the cross-section. Let us explain the big features originated by Lancaster. When you see how these better tires are built—when you fully understand their greater-mileage construction—you'll be ready to give Lancasters a trial.

The Ways Of Old Egypt Exploited In Modern Adaptations

The Egyptian influence in Fashion asserts itself with all the former power of King Tut-ankh-Amen, himself. Of course the prints reflect Egyptian designs and colorings more forcefully than all. There are, however, Egyptian ornaments that make way for clever accessories and Egyptian borders that have been interpreted in unique ways for present-day fashionings. All these details—and even more—are reflected in representations here—in displays that will make the choosing of blouses, dresses, millinery or accessories a pleasurable event.
